

AGED RECLUSE HAD CHECKS, CASH ON HAND

As the body of James Brown, 69-year-old recluse of Hunters-town, was interred in the Great Conewago Presbyterian church cemetery at Hunters-town, Tuesday afternoon, it was disclosed that when the body was prepared for burial $125.85 in cash and six Public Assistance checks for $18.50 each were found in his clothing.

Brown, who died at the county home about 10 hours after his admission there, Saturday, lived alone at the northern edge of Hunters-town—in the house in which he was born and in which he had been living alone for the last five or six years.

Had Endorsed Checks

Neighbors said that he spent last winter in the small frame structure without any type of stove and had lived this fall and winter in the same manner. Today it was indicated that exposure likely hastened his death. Dr. C. G. Crist, county home physician, gave infirmities of age as the immediate cause, Saturday.

Without a stove or any type of heat, Brown lived on cold food—excepting at those times when neighbors brought him warm dishes.

The checks found in his clothing were those issued monthly by the Department of Public Assistance. Each was endorsed but never had been cashed. It was stated today that they will be returned to the DPA. All but the last is invalid for they are required to be cashed within 30 days of the date of issue.

Mr. Brown, who never married, worked for about 18 years in machine shops at Hagerstown. When he retired he resided at a New Oxford hotel about six years, moving to his father's former home in Hunters-town five or six years ago. Near the small house in which he lived stands another building in which his father, the late John Brown, manufactured wagons years ago.

Neighbors said that Brown had refused at various times to go to the county home long enough to permit repairs to his home to make it more livable.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Deatrick Brothers' funeral home with the Rev. Earl N. Rowe, pastor of the Hunters-town-York Springs Methodist church. The pallbearers were Edward Taughinbaugh, Frank McIlhenny, Martin Harman and Clair Tate.

Hospital Patients To Receive Gifts

Patients at the Warner Hospital will be presented with Christmas gifts through the activities of various local organizations.

The Women's Auxiliary of the local hospital will present potted plants to the patients at the institution on Friday evening and have donated Christmas trees to be placed in the halls and wards. On Monday the Auxiliary presented gifts to the nurses at the annual Christmas party held in the nurses' home.

On Christmas Day the patients will receive plaques made by the Cardinal Girl Scout troop members as a present. The plaques, depicting fruit, horses' heads, dogs' heads, a U. S. shield, elephants or frogs are of plaster of paris mounted on a board and painted and shellacked. The plaques will be wrapped as gifts. The patients will also receive a favor with their tray at the Christmas meal, made by the Caroline Codori Girl Scout troop.

Girl Scouts Make Favors For Patients

Members of the Caroline Codori Girl Scout troop of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church will deliver favors to the Warner hospital to be given to the patients on Christmas and will visit the hospital on Christmas eve to sing carols. It was announced at the annual Christmas party of the organization at the parochial school Tuesday evening.

The favors, featuring a sled made from paper and a "pile of logs" made of minis, will be placed on the trays of the patients at Christmas dinner. The girls recently completed making the favors. The troop will assemble at 7 o'clock Friday evening to go to the hospital.

Hostesses for the Christmas party which featured an exchange of gifts, were the Misses Ann Louise Stock, Rose Marie Smith, Lois Small, Catherine Small and Jane Ramer. Mrs. T. E. Farrell, chairman of the troop council, supervised the party.

Killed In Action

Pfc. Joseph Mark Byer, 19, Orrtanna, who was killed in action in the south Pacific. A former Fairfield high school pupil, he was employed at the Gettysburg Furniture factory before he volunteered for service in the U. S. Marine Corps in August, 1942.

URGES GREATER EFFORT IN SCRAP DRIVES AHEAD

County Superintendent of Schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh today urged all teachers in the county to give "the scrap program in the county public schools a priority to the regular school work until our factories and munition plants get plenty for their war work production."

"What we do during this Christmas season and the days which follow may determine to a large extent whether or not we will have our boys back home with us for Christmas, 1944," Superintendent Slaybaugh said in a letter to all teachers and principals of the county public schools.

"Through the efforts of the teachers of the county in helping the pupils gather in the scrap great progress has been made in war production," Mr. Slaybaugh stated.

"The British Foreign Secretary in an address to the House of Commons recently said, 'that the greatest battles of the World War are pending and they will demand all our strength, courage and unity in order to possibly win the war by 1945.' Furthermore, as long as the war lasts we must continuously have scrap drives in order to collect those materials which are of vital importance for those firms manufacturing munitions and war materials."

Urge Rural Effort

"The tin and waste paper drive, especially in the boroughs, was put across in most excellent style. However, in some of the rural districts, very little effort was made to collect and dispose of the scrap. For those teachers in the districts where small amounts of scrap were collected in the December drive, I strongly urge that you put forth a determined effort to collect more scrap of different kinds every school day until Victory is won. In the past drive many of our schools functioned in every respect except in notifying the assigned local fire companies to call for the salvage. It does not matter how much scrap is gathered, it does 'Uncle Sam' no good at all unless it is collected by these fire company agencies for shipment."

The letter also urged the teachers fill out forms of tin can collections for December and to push the fats salvage program.

Seek Xmas Tree; Find 3-Ft. Snake

An insomniac water snake who apparently was out to do some last-minute Christmas shopping late Tuesday afternoon learned he "should have stayed in bed."

Bill Codori, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Codori, East Middle street, and John Staub, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Staub, York street, were enroute to find a Christmas tree about 5 p. m. Tuesday. While near the Culp farm along Rock creek they saw the three-foot reptile sunning itself on a rock and soon disposed of it with the aid of rocks. The boys tied the snake to a pole and brought it home.

Incidentally they forgot to complete their search for a Christmas tree and also incidentally, anyone who wants a snake skin for use in making Christmas presents may call on Charles Codori.

Refuses To Quit War Job

Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet (shown in photograph above) widow of the Civil War General James Longstreet, who opposed Pickett's charge in the three days' Battle of Gettysburg, refuses to quit her defense job as a riveter in the Bell Bomber plant, near Atlanta.

Mrs. Longstreet, who before the present world conflict, headed a movement to erect a monument to the memory of her late husband on the Gettysburg battlefield, became the center of a controversy over unionism. The Atlanta Journal said she was the "real old lady" referred to in a CIO publication as being responsible for "an awful uproar among workers."

The little white-haired widow stoutly refuses to quit her job, refuses to join the union and declares she is a "young lady" well capable of handling her job. She told The Atlanta Journal that "unions have no place in war plants."

Mrs. Longstreet resided in Gettysburg for several months prior to the dedication of the site for her proposed Longstreet memorial.

Local Officer Is Lauded In Senate

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Sen. James J. Davis (R-Pa.) paid tribute in the Senate Tuesday to Comdr. Malcolm Arnold, of Gettysburg, for rescue work the naval officer did in the train wreck in North Carolina last week which took scores of lives. Senator Davis said: "Heroes on the home front should be recognized during the emergency. I call the Senate's attention to the heroic work of Commander Malcolm Arnold of the Navy Medical Corps, after the unfortunate train wreck in North Carolina last week."

"En route to his home in Gettysburg, Pa., from 18 months' sea duty, Commander Arnold with scant medical supplies saved many lives. Clad only in an overcoat and his underwear, with the temperature at 10 degrees above zero, he aided injured civilians and service men and women in the wreck, working heroically for eight hours before outside medical aid arrived."

"I ask that attention of the Secretary of the Navy be called to Commander Arnold's conduct and that his heroism be recognized by the Navy Department."

Eisenhower Looms As Big Boss Of Western Invasion

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
London, Dec. 22 (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower under present circumstances—always subject to change—is now believed leading the field for the job of Allied commander-in-chief for the western invasion. This would leave the developing campaign for the Mediterranean theatre generally in British hands.

The victor of North Africa and Sicily has come to the forefront despite earlier and unquestionably accurate reports that Gen. George C. Marshall had initially been picked for the great command.

It now appears Prime Minister Churchill's illness may be delaying the final agreement on the selections.

In the beginning Eisenhower's prospects seemed to suffer from some fear that his appointment would create an impression—however false—that the Italian and Mediterranean war would be wholly subordinated.

Fractures Arm In Fall From Table

BOCHE THREATEN NEW REPRISALS AGAINST MANY WAR PRISONERS

By W. W. HERCHER

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—Dark threats of reprisal against Allied war prisoners came flying out of Germany today as Nazi propagandists worked up indignation against the Kharkov trials and Paul Joseph Goebbels called British and American aviators "Huns of the air."

DNE, the official German news agency, said in a broadcast statement on the Soviet trials that Nazi military courts would "soon deal with those British and American prisoners who are guilty of a serious breach of international law."

Goebbels told Berlin police and air raid protection officials that further attacks on the German capital must be expected but that "one day our evergrowing anti-aircraft defenses and future retaliation will make an end to the activities of the Huns of the air."

Threaten Airmen

Ugly hints of measures to be taken against captured airmen were closely connected with a German press campaign against American fliers imprisoned after the November 20 raid on Bremen and accused of having "Murder Incorporated" written on their uniforms.

In seizing on the Kharkov trials for further justification of German brutality, a Nazi foreign office spokesman claimed the trials were agreed upon in principle at the Tehran conference, so the "British and Americans share the responsibility." Swedish press reports said.

DNE's official statement specifically accused President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of associating themselves with the Kharkov proceedings and likened those proceedings to "medieval witch trials."

4 Were Hanged

Three Germans and a Russian traitor, who admitted at their trial before a Kharkov military court that they had committed and witnessed numerous acts of atrocities against Russian civilians and soldiers, were hanged Sunday in Kharkov's public square.

The three Germans, convicted under a Supreme Soviet decree of April 19, 1943, were Wilhelm Langheid, a Gestapo captain, Hans Ritz, vice-commander of a Storm troop company, and Richard Ratlaw. Gestapo Auxiliary police corporal. The fourth member of the quartet was Mikhail Bulanov, a Russian who served as a Gestapo chauffeur.

R. C. Sweaters Are Appreciated

Adams county's volunteer production of sweaters and helmets for members of the armed forces is "providing so much pleasure and comfort for the soldier patients," a letter from an Army hospital received by the county chapter of the Red Cross said today.

Miss Dorothy A. Vogeley, field director at the base hospital, wrote the "production unit chairman" of the local chapter, "We were delighted to receive on the 11th, the carton containing 15 Army sleeveless sweaters and 15 Army helmets, knitted by your members. They were appreciated eagerly by the ambulatory patients, one telling another 'look what I got from the Red Cross,' until the supply, fortunately supplemented by shipments from other chapters, quickly vanished. Thank you so much for providing so much pleasure and comfort for the soldier patients here."

H. S. Bond Drive Goes Over The Top

Gettysburg high school went over its pledge of $6,870 in war bonds and stamps by $653.30, the Maroon and White, school paper, announced today. The students purchased $7,523 worth of bonds and stamps during the U. S. Treasury sponsored drive extending from October 21 to December 9.

Room 102 set the record for selling the highest amount of stamps and bonds. The amount sold, $2,028.90, was $863.90 more than the quota for the room. Second highest sales were made in Room 202 in which $1,321.75 in bonds and stamps were purchased. Third high was Room 207 with $501.30.

Allies Punch Out Gains On Italian Front

By RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

Canadians of the British Eighth Army fought today in the streets of Ortona, 11 miles below the Italian Adriatic port of Pescara, as the Russian Baltic Army advanced five miles to within 15 miles of Vitebsk, a hinge of the German northern and central Soviet fronts.

The Canadians slugged into Ortona with tanks after a heavy artillery barrage. In western Italy, the American Fifth Army won several more snow-covered heights and took prisoners in its slow move on Rome, still 75 miles from the nearest Allied troops.

Continue Aerial Assaults

Streams of Allied planes renewed the assault on German installations after daybreak, flying toward northern France for the third consecutive day. The big bombers rested last night, but their swift little cousins, the Mosquitos, annoyed western Germany with raids executed without loss.

The new Russian offensive pressed upon Vitebsk from the north and east, posing a threat of encirclement. A hundred hamlets fell. Another major rail junction 60 miles to the west, Polotsk, likewise was menaced by Red troops within 20 to 25 miles.

MARSHALL IN PACIFIC AREA

Army Headquarters, Central Pacific, Dec. 22 (AP)—The long Pacific battle line was tense with expectancy today after a dramatic visit from Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Army chief of staff, and under indications of resurgent Japanese air activity.

Marshall, participant in recent Allied military councils held at Cairo and Teheran, flew along the entire line from the Southwest Pacific to the Central Pacific, but only the generals and admirals, knew what he had said.

Marshall was present at Cairo when President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek pledged to hammer Japan into unconditional surrender and to strip it of all war-gotten gains.

With the chief of staff safely back in the United States after his 35,000-mile global trip, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that Marshall had been at advanced Allied headquarters in New Guinea Dec. 15 when the American Sixth Army units invaded New Britain, at Arawe.

This invasion prompted Tokyo radio to comment that "Japanese quarters do not deny the seriousness of the situation," and that "Rabaul (Japan's most important Southwest Pacific base on New Britain) must be held under all circumstances."

Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet (shown in photograph above) widow of the Civil War General James Longstreet, who opposed Pickett's charge in the three days' Battle of Gettysburg, refuses to quit her defense job as a riveter in the Bell Bomber plant, near Atlanta.

The Atlanta Journal said she was the "real old lady" referred to in a CIO publication as being responsible for "an awful uproar among workers."

Senator Davis said: "Heroes on the home front should be recognized during the emergency. I call the Senate's attention to the heroic work of Commander Malcolm Arnold of the Navy Medical Corps after the unfortunate train wreck in North Carolina last week."

"En route to his home in Gettysburg, Pa., from 18 months' sea duty, Commander Arnold with scant medical supplies saved many lives. Clad only in an overcoat and his underwear, with the temperature at 10 degrees above zero, he aided injured civilians and service men and women in the wreck, working heroically for eight hours before outside medical aid arrived."

"I ask that attention of the Secretary of the Navy be called to Commander Arnold's conduct and that his heroism be recognized by the Navy Department."

Eisenhower Looms As Big Boss Of Western Invasion

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower under present circumstances—always subject to change—is now believed leading the field for the job of Allied commander-in-chief for the western invasion. This would leave the developing campaign for the Mediterranean theatre generally in British hands.

The victor of North Africa and Sicily has come to the forefront despite earlier and unquestionably accurate reports that Gen. George C. Marshall had initially been picked for the great command.

She was injured in a fall from a table. After receiving treatment she was discharged.

BOCHE THREATEN NEW REPRISALS AGAINST MANY WAR PRISONERS

By W. W. HERCHER

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—Dark threats of reprisal against Allied war prisoners came flying out of Germany today as Nazi propagandists worked up indignation against the Kharkov trials and Paul Joseph Goebbels called British and American aviators "Huns of the air."

DNB, the official German news agency, said in a broadcast statement on the Soviet trials that Nazi military courts would "soon deal with those British and American prisoners who are guilty of a serious breach of international law."

Goebbels told Berlin police and air raid protection officials that further attacks on the German capital must be expected but that "one day our evergrowing anti-aircraft defenses and future retaliation will make an end to the activities of the Huns of the air."

Threaten Airmen

Ugly hints of measures to be taken against captured airmen were closely connected with a German press campaign against American fliers imprisoned after the November 20 raid on Bremen and accused of having "Murder Incorporated" written on their uniforms.

In seizing on the Kharkov trials for further justification of German brutality, a Nazi foreign office spokesman claimed the trials were agreed upon in principle at the Tehran conference, so the "British and Americans share the responsibility," Swedish press reports said.

DNB's official statement specifically accused President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of associating themselves with the Kharkov proceedings and likened those proceedings to "medieval witch trials."

4 Were Hanged

Three Germans and a Russian traitor, who admitted at their trial before a Kharkov military court that they had committed and witnessed numerous acts of atrocities against Russian civilians and soldiers, were hanged Sunday in Kharkov's public square.

The three Germans, convicted under a Supreme Soviet decree of April 19, 1943, were Wilhelm Langheid, a Gestapo captain, Hans Ritz, vice-commander of a Storm troop company, and Richard Ratzlaw, Gestapo Auxiliary police corporal. The fourth member of the quartet was Mikhail Bulanov, a Russian who served as a Gestapo chauffeur.

R. C. Sweaters Are Appreciated

Adams county's volunteer production of sweaters and helmets for members of the armed forces is "providing so much pleasure and comfort for the soldier patients," a letter from an Army hospital received by the county chapter of the Red Cross said today.

Miss Dorothy A. Vogeley, field director at the base hospital, wrote the "production unit chairman" of the local chapter, "We were delighted to receive on the 11th, the carton containing 15 Army sleeveless sweaters and 15 Army helmets, knitted by your members. They were appreciated eagerly by the ambulatory patients, one telling another 'look what I got from the Red Cross,' until the supply, fortunately supplemented by shipments from other chapters, quickly vanished. Thank you so much for providing so much pleasure and comfort for the soldier patients here."

H. S. Bond Drive Goes Over The Top

Gettysburg high school went over its pledge of $5,870 in war bonds and stamps by $533.30, the Maroon and White, school paper, announced today. The students purchased $7,523 worth of bonds and stamps during the U. S. Treasury sponsored drive extending from October 21 to December 9.

Room 102 set the record for selling the highest amount of stamps and bonds. The amount sold, $2,028.90, was $863.90 more than the quota for the room. Second highest sales were made in Room 202 in which $1,321.75 in bonds and stamps were purchased. Third high was Room 207 with $591.30.

Allies Punch Out Gains On Italian Front

By RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

Canadians of the British Eighth Army fought today in the streets of Ortona, 11 miles below the Italian Adriatic port of Pescara, as the Russian Baltic Army advanced five miles to within 15 miles of Vitebsk, a hinge of the German northern and central Soviet fronts.

The Canadians slugged into Ortona with tanks after a heavy artillery barrage. In western Italy, the American Fifth Army won several more snow-covered heights and took prisoners in its slow move on Rome, still 75 miles from the nearest Allied troops.

Continue Aerial Assaults

Streams of Allied planes renewed the assault on German installations after daybreak, flying toward northern France for the third consecutive day. The big bombers rested last night, but their swift little cousins, the Mosquitos, annoyed western Germany with raids executed without loss.

The new Russian offensive pressed upon Vitebsk from the north and east, posing a threat of encirclement. A hundred hamlets fell. Another major rail junction 60 miles to the west, Polotsk, likewise was menaced by Red troops within 20 to 25 miles.

MARSHALL IN PACIFIC AREA

Army Headquarters, Central Pacific, Dec. 22 (AP)—The long Pacific battle line was tense with expectancy today after a dramatic visit from Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Army chief of staff, and under indications of resurgent Japanese air activity.

Marshall, participant in recent Allied military councils held at Cairo and Teheran, flew along the entire line from the Southwest Pacific to the Central Pacific, but only the generals and admirals knew what he had said.

Marshall was present at Cairo when President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek pledged to hammer Japan into unconditional surrender and to strip it of all war-gotten gains.

With the chief of staff safely back in the United States after his 35,000-mile global trip, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that Marshall had been at advanced Allied headquarters in New Guinea Dec. 15 when the American Sixth Army units invaded New Britain, at Arawe.

This invasion prompted Tokyo radio to comment that "Japanese quarters do not deny the seriousness of the situation," and that "Rabaul (Japan's most important Southwest Pacific base on New Britain) must be held under all circumstances."

For the occasion the church has been decorated with Christmas trees and poinsettias. The only light used will be that of the many candles.

The choirs will sing at the Gradual "And There Were Shepherds" by Wilson and at the Offertory "Bethlehem," Barlett. Miss Sara Spangler will offer as a solo "Cantique de Noel," by Adams. Rev. H. S. Fox, pastor, will tell the Christmas story of "Philus the Stable Boy at Bethlehem." During the service a new set of white altar paraments will be blessed by Rev. Mr. Fox.

The children's Christmas program will be rendered at vespers, Sunday evening. It will consist of songs and recitations by the members of the primary, beginner and junior departments of the Church school. Miss Grace Spangler will play a violin solo.

Further Decrease In School Absences

The number of students absent in the local public schools continued to decline today.

Reports from the various buildings revealed the following absences: High school, 88; High street, 90; Lincoln school, 50, and Meade school, 105.

TIMING OF NEW PACIFIC PLANS MAY BE STUDIED

By WILLIAM FRYE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The conferences Gen. George C. Marshall has just concluded with Allied commanders in the Pacific inevitably call to mind all the plans of Gen. Douglas MacArthur about the men, equipment and supplies he needed and wasn't getting.

The tempo of the war against Japan has stepped up importantly in recent weeks in both the central and the southwest Pacific—Marshall's conference with MacArthur in New Guinea coincided with the landings of U. S. Sixth Army forces at Arawe on New Britain.

But the apparent promise of this operation, as well as the seizure of the Gilbert Islands and the mounting air attacks on the Marshalls in the mid-Pacific, is tempered somewhat by the recollection that only a month ago a spokesman at MacArthur's headquarters declared that the forces reaching that combat zone were not sufficient to mount a large-scale offensive.

U. S. Trip Unlikely

Within the last few days there have been published reports that MacArthur would come to the United States in the spring. Those reports were linked with MacArthur-for-President moves, but it seems highly unlikely that the general, who has said his only ambition was a United Nations victory, would make such a political journey.

There has been, however, considerable speculation that MacArthur was planning the trip, but for the purpose of presenting once more—and this time in person—his demands for greater supplies of men and equipment, particularly air strength, for his theater. This speculation has persisted despite the complete lack of anything approaching official confirmation.

If such a trip was planned, Marshall's conferences with the big man of the Philippines defense may have given him sufficient detailed information about present war plans to head it off.

May Discuss Timing

For Marshall was at Cairo with Roosevelt—Churchill—Chiang, at Tehran with Roosevelt—Churchill—Stalin. Cairo produced the promise that Japan would be stripped of the last shred of her stolen empire. Tehran presumably fixed the timing of the European show that must be played out before the east can be shifted in sufficient numbers to get real results in the Pacific theaters.

Now, the broad strategic outline of Germany first, Japan second, is as old as Pearl Harbor. A lot of that outline has been filled in, enough that important operations have been undertaken on both sides of the globe, and all the Allied commanders certainly have known the "what" of plans. The factor lacking in much of their information may well have been the "when."

So it may well be that the chief of staff, equipped with the considered opinions and the timing decisions of the two momentous meetings in the Middle East, undertook to tell Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and other Pacific commanders what the high command expected in Europe and therefore when the full weight of Allied strength might reasonably be expected to be available for the struggle with Japan.

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—The retail cost of some fruits, berries and vegetables packed in glass containers will be hiked about two cents a jar as a result of a ceiling price adjustment announced today by the Office of Price Administration.

The order permits processors of these items who since 1941 have begun to pack in glass containers of any size from 1 1/2 ounces through 49 ounces to adjust their ceilings as follows:

CONGRESS GOES HOME FOR XMAS; RETURN JAN. 10

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Members of the 78th congress went home today to celebrate the Christmas holidays and to recharge their political batteries for the opening of a presidential campaign year.

They will return January 10 to come to grips with a batch of questions directly affecting the country's wartime economy, of challenges to President Roosevelt's method for holding the inflation line, of issues centering around taxes, wage increases, subsidies and appropriations.

Two of those questions—subsidies and taxes—await senate attention; a third, that of wage stabilization, rests in the house.

No Closing Hi-jinks

In quiet contrast to the hi-jinks and hilarity typical of peacetime wind-ups of congress, yesterday's adjournment came on a sombre note, a prayer that the new year would bring victory and peace. During its first year this congress has:

1. Gone on record for postwar international cooperation to maintain a just and lasting peace.
2. Continued for two years the lend-lease agreements.
3. Extended the administration's authority to wrote reciprocal trade agreements.

Other Important Measures

4. Voted appropriations amounting to $114,000,000,000, about 96 per cent of which was earmarked for war purposes.
5. Adopted a modified pay-as-you-earn tax bill, abating approximately 75 per cent of one year's assessments for the nation's taxpayers.
6. Enacted the stringent Smith Connally was labor disputes acts to curb strikes by providing a "cooling off" period.
7. Increased allowances for dependents of servicemen.
8. Revamped the selective service law in an effort to slow down induction of fathers.
9. Nullified President Roosevelt's executive order limiting individual incomes to a maximum of $25,000 after taxes.

PRINTERS BACK AT WORK IN D. C.

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—War Labor board intervention Tuesday restored daily newspaper publication in the national capital after a 24-hour suspension.

Presses stood idle in four publishing plants Monday as members of the Columbia Typographical union—denying they were on strike—conducted a continuous union meeting in connection with wage adjustment negotiations with the Washington Publishers' association which had failed to result in an agreement.

The meeting prevented printers from reporting at their shops and the morning Washington Post and morning Times Herald were able to get out only skinny Monday editions. The evening Star and evening News were unable to publish at all and a Federal conciliator certified the matter to WLB as a labor dispute.

WLB promptly ordered a return to work and the union voted 158 to 85 early Tuesday to go back on the job and resume the wage negotiations. Union President Jesse B. Mainbeck announced, however, that the continuous union meeting would be resumed in 48 hours unless "tangible" results were forthcoming at that time.

Mainbeck said the printers were asking a $133 a day increase, with an hourly minimum of $16 1/2, asserting these workers were entitled to such an adjustment under the "Little Steel" formula. The present minimum is $147 an hour. He said the publishers had offered to raise this minimum to $157, with additional compensation for night work.

SANTA TO REACH ISOLATED YANKS

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Santa Claus, dressed in olive drab and flying an Army Air Force plane, is bringing Christmas to United States troops in icy, barren northern areas, the battle fronts of Europe and the sun-baked isles and dripping jungles of the Pacific.

The War department reported today that hundreds of evergreens, tons of cigarettes, candy, cake, radios and recording machines marked "hold until Christmas" have been flown to isolated outposts which are inaccessible in winter except by air.

The Army Santa Claus began deliveries four months ago and will continue until every soldier in the most remote station has received his packages.

On Thanksgiving Day, soldiers in the Aleutians tasted their first fresh food since arriving in the islands. They will have it again Christmas—turkey—with olives, shrimp and rolls, all flown in by their air force buddies.

Inskip gave a short address of welcome following which John R. Fidler, chairman, presided at the Court of Honor. Tenderfoot awards were presented to Charles Zeigler, Fred Warner, Robert Breighner, Clair Reinecker, Gerald Brough and William Hoffman. Robert Eicholtz and Lee Reinecker were given second class awards.

The group joined in singing "God Bless America," following which a benediction was pronounced. A social hour was then held which featured games and refreshments. Moving pictures were shown. Luther Lady led in group singing.

The annual Christmas program will be presented in the Primary room of the Idaville schools Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. D. E. McCauslin, the teacher, has extended an invitation to parents and friends to attend.

Mrs. Arthur E. Rice, of Biglerville, will leave this evening for Kokomo, Indiana, to spend the Christmas holidays with her son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. (jg) and Mrs. Phillip M. Jones.

Save Troop Train From Fallen Tree

Camden, N. J., Dec. 22 (AP)—A large number of American soldiers were safe today due to the efforts of a German-born American citizen who prevented their troop train from plunging into nearby Pennsauken creek last night.

Early last night Eugene Halder, 39, of Pennsauken, New Jersey, who said he suffered through the last war inside Germany, and his visiting nephew, 15-year-old Eugene Schneider, set out to buy a Christmas tree and took a short cut along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks in the direction of Camden.

Approximately 100 feet from a trestle crossing the south branch of the Pennsauken creek Halder and his nephew discovered a 55 feet long oak tree, three feet thick at the base, lying across the tracks.

Police said the tree, rotted and weakened by a grass fire that swept an adjoining field earlier yesterday, must have fallen on the tracks just before Halder and his nephew arrived at the trestle.

Black Is Urged For Auditor General

Harrisburg, Dec. 22 (AP)—Strong support for Assistant Postmaster General Ramsey Black as the democratic organization candidate for auditor general was reported today as party chieftains gathered here to talk over the 1944 election campaign.

State Chairman David L. Lawrence and U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffy came to state headquarters to sound out sentiment for consideration in drawing up a state-wide slate.

Lawrence said the move is a follow-up to recent Washington conferences in which he and Guffy pledged a united front for next year's election despite bitter differences in past campaigns.

While Lawrence insisted no candidates have been decided upon, an authoritative source declared Black a likely selection for the post to be vacated by democratic Auditor General P. Clair Ross. Black is a Guffy lieutenant.

Kiddies Celebrate Early With Father

Pittsburgh, Dec. 22 (AP)—There was an early Christmas at the Daniel F. McPeak home today.

His seven children played with their new toys and donned new clothes because McPeak, who will be 38 in four months, won't be home for Christmas. He was inducted into the Navy last week and reports for duty tomorrow.

SANTA TO REACH ISOLATED YANKS

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Santa Claus, dressed in olive drab and flying an Army Air Force plane, is bringing Christmas to United States troops in icy, barren northern areas, the battle fronts of Europe and the sun-baked Isles and dripping dim jungles of the Pacific.

The War department reported today that hundreds of evergreens, radios and recording machines marked "hold until Christmas" have been flown to isolated outposts which are inaccessible in winter except by air.

INJURIES FATAL

Porowski and Private Edwin Kittko, both assigned to Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland, were in an automobile that overturned near here. Kittko suffered lacerations of the legs.

CONGRESS GOES HOME FOR XMAS; RETURN JAN. 10

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Members of the 78th congress went home today to celebrate the Christmas holidays and to recharge their political batteries for the opening of a presidential campaign year.

They will return January 10 to come to grips with a batch of questions directly affecting the country's wartime economy, of challenges to President Roosevelt's method for holding the inflation line, of issues centering around taxes, wage increases, subsidies and appropriations.

Two of those questions—subsidies and taxes—await senate attention; a third, that of wage stabilization, rests in the house.

No Closing Hi-jinks
In quiet contrast to the hi-jinks and hilarity typical of peacetime wind-ups of congress, yesterday's adjournment came on a sombre note, a prayer that the new year would bring victory and peace.

During its first year this congress has:

1. Gone on record for postwar international cooperation to maintain a just and lasting peace.
2. Continued for two years the lend-lease agreements.
3. Extended the administration's authority to wrote reciprocal trade agreements.

Other Important Measures

4. Voted appropriations amounting to $114,000,000, about 96 per cent of which was earmarked for war purposes.
5. Adopted a modified pay-as-you-earn tax bill, abating approximately 75 per cent of one year's assessments for the nation's taxpayers.
6. Enacted the stringent Smith Connally was labor disputes acts to curb strikes by providing a "cooling off" period.
7. Increased allowances for dependents of servicemen.
8. Revamped the selective service law in an effort to slow down induction of fathers.
9. Nullified President Roosevelt's executive order limiting individual incomes to a maximum of $25,000 after taxes.

PRINTERS BACK AT WORK IN D. C.

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—War Labor board intervention Tuesday restored daily newspaper publication in the national capital after a 24-hour suspension.

Presses stood idle in four publishing plants Monday as members of the Columbia Typographical union—denying they were on strike—conducted a continuous union meeting in connection with wage adjustment negotiations with the Washington Publishers' association which had failed to result in an agreement.

The meeting prevented printers from reporting at their shops and the morning Washington Post and morning Times Herald were able to get out only skimpy Monday editions. The evening Star and evening News were unable to publish at all and a Federal conciliator certified the matter to WLB as a labor dispute.

WLB promptly ordered a return to work and the union voted 158 to 85 early Tuesday to go back on the job and resume the wage negotiations. Union President Jesse B. Manbeck announced, however, that the continuous union meeting would be resumed in 48 hours unless "tangible" results were forthcoming at that time.

Manbeck said the printers were asking a $1.33 a day increase, with an hourly minimum of $1.65, asserting these workers were entitled to such an adjustment under the "Little Steel" formula. The present minimum is $1.47 an hour. He said the publishers had offered to raise this minimum to $1.57, with additional compensation for night work.

SANTA TO REACH ISOLATED YANKS

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Santa Claus, dressed in olive drab and flying an Army Air Force plane, is bringing Christmas to United States troops in icy, barren northern areas, the battle fronts of Europe and the sun-baked Isles and dripping dim jungles of the Pacific.

The War department reported today that hundreds of evergreens, radios and recording machines marked "hold until Christmas" have been flown to isolated outposts which are inaccessible in winter except by air.

The Army Santa Claus began deliveries four months ago and will continue until every soldier in the most remote station has received his packages. On Thanksgiving Day, soldiers in the Aleutians tasted their first fresh fowl since arriving in the islands. They will have it again Christmas—turkey—with olives, shrimp and rolls, all flown in by their air force buddies.

FDR'S Xmas Gifts Will Lack Wrapping

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—There won't be any fancy wrappings on the Christmas gifts which President Roosevelt will distribute tomorrow to the White House staff.

The President, setting a paper-saving example, will use only the original cardboard containers in which the presents came.

What the gifts will be, he isn't saying ahead of time.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt will open their own gifts at the family home at Hyde Park, New York, where they will spend Christmas for the first time since he took office in 1933. Their only daughter, two of their four sons and seven grandchildren will gather around the Christmas tree with them for the opening of presents Christmas afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt will wield the carving knife at a turkey dinner in the evening.

Darlan's Slayer Hailed As Martyr

Algiers, Dec. 22 (AP)—An anguished father, seeking to clear the name of his son who a year ago Christmas Eve ended the life of Admiral Jean Francois Darlan in a flurry of gunfire, has lifted some of the secrecy thrown over the death of the little man who tried to be all things to all men.

One year of untiring effort by Eugene Bonnier de la Chapelle, newspaperman, has won partial vindication of the name of his 20-year-old son, Fernand Bonnier de la Chapelle, a frail university student who died before a firing squad.

As the result of the father's appeal, the justice ministry of the French Committee of National Liberation has issued a communique saying a re-examination of the case revealed that the youth had not been connected with the Axis.

If leaders of the French underground movement have their way, the youth soon may be hailed as a martyr in the fight to liberate France.

Board Turns Down Pardon For Burns

Atlanta, Dec. 22 (AP)—The state pardon and parole board has rejected Governor Ellis Arnall's request that it grant a pardon to Robert Elliott Burns, escaped convict who became famous after writing the book "I Am a Fugitive From a Georgia Chain Gang."

The board said it could not take action in the case until the Newark, New Jersey, businessman "returns to the jurisdiction of the state of Georgia."

POTENT COCKTAILS

New Orleans, Dec. 22 (AP)—Five negroes celebrating at a Christmas party last night died after drinking home-made cocktails. Dr. John G. Hamilton, Charity hospital's resident in surgery, said members of the victims' families told him the cocktail called a "derail" was made of a paint-remover ingredient, sugar and two types of wine.

FIX LUMBER CEILING

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration today established maximum prices for freight car lumber stock, common dimension, and mine car lumber made of mixed hardwoods produced in the Appalachian region. Ceilings were set at the maximum prices for the same items made of red and white oak, less $4 per 1,000 board feet. The action is effective December 29.

YORK QUINTET HANDS MAROONS BIG SURPRISE

Gettysburg high school's aspirations for its fourth straight Southern Pennsylvania Interscholastic basketball league title took on a darker appearance today following a surprising defeat at the hands of York 23-15. The defeat was the first of the season for Gettysburg and it halted a three-game winning streak.

Victors over York here last week 43-13, the Maroons were not expected to encounter much trouble in the return engagement but Coach Dry's lads actually never had a chance. York led from start to finish and completely throttled the Maroon offense.

At no time did Gettysburg attack function normally. The score was the lowest the Maroon team has been held to in a regular season game in many seasons. Two years ago Lower Merion held the Maroons to 13 points in an inter-district PIAA tilt.

One Goal In Half
Bobby March, scoring ace, was blanked without a point. Three personal fouls drawn early in the game kept him on the bench for a good portion of the game.

Moser's foul toss was the only score for the Dry-men in the first period, York leading 6-1. Fidler did all of the local's scoring in the second quarter on a goal and foul while York ran its lead to 12-4.

Allen and Collier opened the second half with goals and then Fair and Ogden connected. Zimmerman looped a shot and Fair a foul to make the score 18-9. Gettysburg could not make any dent in the York lead in the final period. Eisenhart converted a foul which was followed by a layup toss by Allen. Fair netted a foul and Brown sank charity throw and Moser's long toss a long heave. Allen converted a ended the scoring.

George Gorman was missing from the Maroon lineup due to illness while "Snake" Emanuel used practically a new team from the one which started here, several of his players being employed at present.

Scrubs Lose
The York reserves nipped the Maroon scrubs in the preliminary tilt 30-17 after holding a substantial lead throughout.

The Maroon teams will next play at West York on January 4.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By RICH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Americans and British in the Chapel Internment Camp near Shanghai had a pretty good time playing against each other in softball (the Americans generally won) and soccer (the Britons won), so the Jap guards decided to get in on the fun. . . . Royal Arch Gunnison, the foreign correspondent and radio commentator who recently returned on the Gripsholm after a year and a half of internment, tells what happened. As a member of the camp committee, Gunnison had to arrange the ball game.

PAGE MR. WEBSTER

The Japs, proud of their baseball ability, insisted on playing against an all-star team and they brought in 30 or 40 officials from other camps to see them win. . . . After the first inning the score was about 27-0 in favor of the Americans and the internees decided that they'd better not win too easily or they might lose the few privileges their captors allowed them. . . . So they began miffing easy flies, booting grounders and making wild throws. . . . That only made things look worse and the Japs were losing "face" faster than you can lose your bankroll in a crap game. . . . The score was about 28-12 after six innings when the captain of the guard, a big, hard-boiled husky who was playing center field, approached Gunnison and suggested: "Maybe it more better that we do not keep score, that we just play this game for sportsmanship."

HEATS' ON

Sports played an important part in providing entertainment both at Chapel and the Santo Tomas University Camp at Manila where Gunnison was first confined, but between the heat, scanty food supplies and danger of injuries, the internees didn't dare let their activities become too strenuous. . . . Softball and soccer, played at twilight, and boxing were the principal sports. Basketball was tried occasionally and some touch football, which was discarded as too rough. . . . Boxing shows were staged about every ten days at Chapel and a regular feature was a tussle between an American negro and a Filipino-American heavyweight. They were "pretty good" and so well matched that the verdict always was in doubt.

A MATTER OF TIMING

"The Japs didn't make it hard for us to get equipment for sports," Gunnison explained. "Frequently someone had to go into Shanghai to buy extra food or medical supplies, and they'd usually let us stop and buy a few softballs or bats. The Japs never objected to our sports except when they interfered with their work projects. They tried to make us work for them, setting up fences and constructing camp buildings. We could play seven innings of softball at twilight, but somehow we'd get a post-hole half dug and it would be too dark to finish."

SETTLED IN ADVANCE

Gunnison also managed to get a look at the sports activities of the Japanese troops. . . . "Sumo" wrestling was one of the big events. It's a special kind of wrestling between big, bulky fellows who twist their hair into heavy pads and butt one another around. . . . The pattern sounded familiar, for they "traveled around in troupees and put on regular acts" at various camps. . . . He also saw a track meet involving a Jap Army team, a team of Koreans, some Italian Marines and some Nazis. . . . "The Italians were best," Gunnison added, "but the Japs won."

CERTIFY 2,000 "WAR" TEACHERS

Harrisburg, Dec. 22 (AP)—Nearly 2,000 emergency teaching certificates have been approved by the state Public Instruction Department to provide replacements for instructors now in war-time capacities. Dr. Henry Klonower, director of teacher certification, announced today.

The program, set up by the 1943 Legislature, is meeting the teacher shortage, Dr. Klonower declared "without scuttling the high standards achieved by the department in the last 20 years."

He added, however, "serious difficulty lies ahead unless high school students are recruited for teaching service. The scarcity of instructors in the public school system will become more serious until 1948 when we will meet the real crisis."

"In five years the full effect of the increased birth rate and declining infant mortality will show up in a larger enrollment and there will not be enough prepared teachers to meet the crisis unless the present source of supply is increased."

He explained that enrollment in teacher education institutions "is only 40 per cent of normal times."

Emergency certificates have been approved for 481 elementary school teachers; 233 in health and physical education; 134 in vocational education; 105 in mathematics; 80 in business education and 400 in academic courses.

YORK QUINTET HANDS MAROONS BIG SURPRISE

Gettysburg high school's aspirations for its fourth straight Southern Pennsylvania Interscholastic basketball league title took on a darker appearance today following a surprising defeat at the hands of York 23-15. The defeat was the first of the season for Gettysburg and it halted a three-game winning streak.

Victors over York last week 43-13, the Maroons were not expected to encounter much trouble in the return engagement but Coach Dry's lads actually never had a chance. York led from start to finish and completely throttled the Maroon offense.

At no time did Gettysburg attack function normally. The score was the lowest the Maroon team has been held to in a regular season game in many seasons. Two years ago Lower Merion held the Maroons to 13 points in an inter-district PIAA tilt.

One Goal In Half

Bobby March, scoring ace, was blanked without a point. Three personal fouls drawn early in the game kept him on the bench for a good portion of the game.

Moser's foul toss was the only score for the Dry-men in the first period, York leading 6-1. Fidler did all of the local's scoring in the second quarter on a goal and foul while York ran its lead to 12-4.

Allen and Collier opened the second half with goals and then Fair and Ogden connected. Zimmerman looped a shot and Fair a foul to make the score 18-9. Gettysburg could not make any dent in the York lead in the final period. Eisenhower converted a foul which was followed by a foul toss by Allen. Fair netted a layup and Brown sank charity throw and Moser's long toss a long have. Allen converted a ended the scoring.

George Gorman was missing from the Maroon lineup due to illness while "Snaps" Emanuel used practically a new team from the one which started here, several of his players being employed at present.

Scrubs Lose

The York reserves nipped the Maroon scrubs in the preliminary tilt 30-17 after holding a substantial lead throughout.

The Maroon teams will next play at West York on January 4.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Americans and British in the Chapel Internment Camp near Shanghai had a pretty good time playing against each other in softball (the Americans generally won) and soccer (the Britons won), so the Jap guards decided to get in on the fun. . . . Royal Arch Gunnison, the foreign correspondent and radio commentator who recently returned on the Gripsholm after a year and a half of internment, tells what happened. As a member of the camp committee, Gunnison had to arrange the ball game.

The Japs, proud of their baseball ability, insisted on playing against an all-star team and they brought in some 30 or 40 officials from other camps to see them win. . . . After the first inning the score was about 27-0 in favor of the Americans and the internees decided that they'd better not win too easily or they might lose the few privileges their captors allowed them. . . . So they began miffing easy flies, booting grounders and making wild throws. . . . That only made things look worse and the Japs were losing "face" faster than you can lose your bankroll in a crap game. . . . The score was about 28-12 after six innings when the captain of the guard, a big, hard-boiled husky who was playing center field, approached Gunnison and suggested: "Maybe it more better that we do not keep score, that we just play this game for sportsmanship."

HEAT'S ON

Sports played an important part in providing entertainment both at Chapel and the Santo Tomas University Camp at Manila where Gunnison was first confined, but between the heat, scanty food supplies and danger of injuries, the internees didn't dare let their activities become too strenuous. . . . Softball and soccer, played at twilight, and boxing were the principal sports. Basketball was tried occasionally and some touch football, which was discarded as too rough. . . . Boxing shows were staged about every ten days at Chapel and a regular feature was a tussle between an American negro and a Filipino-American heavyweight. They were "pretty good" and so well matched that the verdict always was in doubt.

A MATTER OF TIMING

"The Japs didn't make it hard for us to get equipment for sports," Gunnison explained. "Frequently someone had to go into Shanghai to buy extra food or medical supplies, and they'd usually let us stop and buy a few softballs or bats. The Japs never objected to our sports except when they interfered with their work projects. They tried to make us work for them, setting up fences and constructing camp buildings. We could play seven innings of softball at twilight, but somehow we'd get a post-hole half dug and it would be too dark to finish."

SETTLED IN ADVANCE

Gunnison also managed to get a look at the sports activities of the Japanese troops. . . . "Sumo" wrestling was one of the big events. It's a special kind of wrestling between big, bulky fellows who twist their hair into heavy pads and butt one another around. . . . The pattern sounded familiar, for they "traveled around in troupees and put on regular acts" at various camps. . . . He also saw a track meet involving a Jap Army team, a team of Koreans, some Italian Marines and some Nazis. . . . "The Italians were best," Gunnison added, "but the Japs won."

CERTIFY 2,000 "WAR" TEACHERS

Harrisburg, Dec. 22 (AP)—Nearly 2,000 emergency teaching certificates have been approved by the state Public Instruction Department to provide replacements for instructors now in war-time capacities. Dr. Henry Klonower, director of teacher certification, announced today.

The program, set up by the 1943 Legislature, is meeting the teacher shortage. Dr. Klonower declared "without scuttling the high standards achieved by the department in the last 20 years."

He added, however, "serious difficulty lies ahead unless high school students are recruited for teaching service. The scarcity of instructors in the public school system will become more serious until 1948 when we will meet the real crisis."

"In five years the full effect of the increased birth rate and declining infant mortality will show up in a larger enrollment and there will not be enough prepared teachers to meet the crisis unless the present source of supply is increased."

He explained that enrollment in teacher education institutions "is only 40 per cent of normal times."

Emergency certificates have been approved for 481 elementary school teachers; 233 in health and physical education; 134 in vocational education; 105 in mathematics; 80 in business education and 400 in academic courses.

Alonzo Stagg Star Comeback

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, venerable football coach at the College of the Pacific, today was named the person who staged the greatest comeback during 1943.

And while Stagg was engaged in a rugged vote-battle with Gopher Patty Berg for the honor, virtually every one of the 77 sports editors who completed in the annual Associated Press poll mentioned the two comebacks of Lt. Tommy Harmon.

Harmon, former all-America football player at Michigan, twice came back from almost certain death in a pair of aerial incidents during the year in his new career as one of Uncle Sam's flying nephews.

But in the voting restricted solely to sports, Stagg triumphed over Miss Berg by a mere five points although the young golfer, now a lieutenant in the Marines and already voted the year's outstanding woman athlete, drew 15 first place votes to 12 for the veteran coach.

Stagg's College of the Pacific team, bolstered by Navy Lend-Lease talent, banged its way through the first half of its schedule without a defeat. Then it lost to the Southern California eleven, 6 to 0, in a game surrounded by national interest. The outcome still is being debated on the west coast.

Miss Berg returned to the fairways in June after being sidelined for almost 18 months with a fractured left knee suffered in a Texas automobile accident. Her long lay-off didn't keep her from regaining the western open title.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Town Boy Tells of Being Gassed:
Telling how he was gassed so badly that he has been confined to a hospital for two months, how one man was blown to pieces at his side, and another killed at the opening of his own dugout, Sergeant John W. Hartman has written a vivid account of his experiences in a letter to his father, Sheriff H. J. Hartman. The soldier is recovering from the effects of the gas, the principal force of which centered in his eyes.

Red Cross Gets the High School:
The Gettysburg High School is more than 100 per cent for the Red Cross. Not only has every one of the 204 pupils joined, but they have secured for their honor roll 36 associate members — children under fifteen years of age.

HOLIDAY DRIVE ON SPEEDERS TO COME IN PENNA.

Harrisburg, Dec. 22 (AP)—Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm of the Pennsylvania State Police Tuesday noted a tendency by motorists to exceed speed limits and announced a holiday drive by state police to reduce traffic accidents in Pennsylvania.

Police records, declared Colonel Wilhelm in a statement, indicate an increase in highway traffic "with a tendency on the part of motorists to disregard not only the national 35 mile per hour speed limit but also the 50-mile per hour speed limit set for pleasure cars (by the state motor code) by exceeding that speed to a noticeable degree."

The commissioner said "every available man" will be patrolling rural highways during the Christmas and New Year holiday periods "covering dangerous points and highways during hours of the day when traffic is at its peak in an effort to keep down highway traffic accidents and fatalities."

Fatalities On Increase
He warned "a sharp lookout will be maintained for reckless, speeding motorists as well as persons who disregard their own safety and that of others by operating motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating liquors."

"Safe and sane motor vehicle operation has always been a great responsibility on the part of drivers of automobiles and trucks," he added. "Today it is more important than ever because of the necessity to conserve manpower and motor vehicle equipment which is urgently required for the successful prosecution of the war."

The statement also noted that traffic fatalities in rural areas increased slightly in October and November against the same months of 1942.

County Soldiers With Same Name Meet In S. Pacific

Mrs. S. B. Palmer, 162 North Stratton street, received an interesting letter from her son, Pfc. John H. Palmer, somewhere in the South Pacific, excerpts from which follow:

"Just received your seven star edition, will try to answer it."

"Am not in a blue funk just irritated at times. You know how it is with us Palmers, when it gets too tough for others it is just right for us. Am getting along fine, everything considered."

"I can't see why some Mothers do not receive letters from their sons. Unless something has happened to them they have the same opportunity to write that I have."

"There is very little selfishness in my outfit. We are in a tough place here and more or less help each other."

"You write and tell me how cold it is back home and me down here roasting from the heat. Why, it is so hot here that when I throw out a pan of water it is boiling before it hits the ground."

"Am not letting anything get me down so don't worry about that and I am thinking of you folks back home all the time. After all you are the ones I am over here for."

"Have not received the box from the church yet but am expecting it to arrive any day now."

"Am sure glad that you have a sure-nough old time Methodist minister. They are very few and we all need a lot of them. As you said, Faith in God is everything and I have all the faith in the world. It is the main thing that keeps me going down here."

"Met a boy the other day and I asked him where he was from and he said Littlestown. I said: Yes, that is in Adams county, Pa. He asked what I knew about it. I told him that I lived in Gettysburg. We had a very long talk together. His name is John H. Palmer. He lives on R. D. 2, out of Littlestown. Remember how our mail used to get mixed up? We had a good laugh over that."

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guss
THAT AFTER-50 WORRY

Time was you looked with hope to age,
And every friend with every year
Wished birthdays oft to reap-pear
And far away death's final stage.

Well, as 'twas prayed so is it now!
Through fifty years and more
You've sped,
But since with them some
Strength has fled,
Pale worry sits upon your brow.

At thirty, health was yours to know,
At five and forty still you danced,
For pain your flesh had seldom lanced!
But after fifty 'tis not so.

Sat down content and unafraid,
Time was for Age you made your prayer,
Now every twinge of pain you bear
Is part of that for which you prayed.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams
JUST BEFORE THE DAWN

Underneath the glass of my work desk is this line in the handwriting of the author, Celia Thaxter: "The sunrise has never failed us yet!"

Even while we sleep the sun is shining somewhere, and the darkest night always precedes the dawn. That is nature. It is always nature, as well, for periods of depression to be followed by periods of betterment and happiness. "Sorrow endureth for the night, but joy cometh in the morning."

It is well for us to bear this fact in mind when we are overburdened with anxiety or sorrow. Time is the greatest of healers. Our losses are softened by perspective. Things look darkest when we are in the midst of darkness. Darkness, however, is never permanent.

Just before the dawn darkness begins to break, and then the sunlight! Periods of depression come to us all. No one is exempt. But when things look darkest, and discouragement seems at its height, is no time in which to quit, to despair, or to lose heart. That is the time to hang on! And if you do, you will know the dawn in all its glory.

The darkest hour in human history was when they nailed the Christ to a cross. But the brightest was when he arose from the dead, making the celebration of Easter—the time of the resurrection—the outstanding triumphant event of all time.

Timely and kindly encouragement has saved many a human being from rashness and many a fatal blunder. We never know when we are furnishing food that may nourish genius into some triumph that may bless the world.

We are created to win ourselves. The realm of your mind is your individual empire. No one can take it without your consent. It was Emerson who once wrote that "the strongest man on earth is the man who stands most alone." Do but this and you will be assured of many happy days.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject "The Place of One's Birth."

Former Jobs to All Our Yanks:
The Reaser and Gettysburg Furniture companies announce that all their former employees, now in the service of their country, will be given back their former jobs, or something just as good, when they return from the war. A number of these men are expected to get their discharges from the army within a short time and they can again join the big family at the eastern end of town if they so desire.

Gettysburg Boy Out of Hun Camp:

The following telegram has been received by his mother from the War Department: "Your son, Corporal Earl J. Smith officially reported released from German Prison Camp Rastatt and returned to France. Good health. Harris, Adjutant General."

Another Name on Honor Roll:
"Deeply regret to inform you that Charles C. Bucher, previously reported missing in action September 30th, is now reported killed in action September 30th Harris, Adjutant General."

This telegram was received Monday evening by Charles Bucher, of Bonneville, father of the young soldier.

College Troops Get Discharge:
Three hundred and fifty Gettysburg College boys received their discharges from the service in the Students Army Training Corps on Monday. Their final pay was given them and they immediately left for home by the first train, motorbus or other conveyance they could find.

Victory Sing:
The Presbyterian church was crowded to the doors for the weekly Victory Sing on Sunday evening. Mrs. M. K. Eckert sang a solo, while a large number of songs were sung by the audience. J. L. Williams, Esq. introduced Rev. F. H. Brunstetter, who made the ten-minute address.

Next Sunday the Sing will be held in the Reformed church.

Elect Officers:
An exceptionally good meeting of the Parent-Teacher's Association was held in the High School building on Friday evening, the first one of the school year. Officers were elected as follows: president, Mrs. H. T. Weaver; vice presidents, Mrs. Albert Rogers, Mrs. Helen Cope and Mrs. S. N. Hagen; recording secretary, Miss Grace Soch; financial secretary, Mrs. C. D. Doughty; treasurer, Wilson A. Bream.

Home from Overseas:
Leo Ramer, of Ridgway, arrived here Friday evening to spend several days with his father Andrew Ramer. He has been overseas for a year with one of the United States aerial units. He arrived in this country on December 10th.

Flashes of Life

HOTFOOT
Front Royal, Va. (AP)—In the future, Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, Public Education Superintendent in Virginia, will be cautious in choosing his figures of speech.

"Senator, I've come up here to build a fire under you," he told State Senator Aubrey Weaver, when he called to enlist Weaver's support for teacher salary boost legislation.

While they were talking, the telephone rang. The schoolhouse, two doors from the senator's house, was on fire. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

WASTE PAPER DRIVE

Harrisburg, Pa. (AP)—Unused forms provided for the registration of slaves in Pennsylvania almost a century ago are headed for war-time waste paper salvage.

Courts attaches found the blanks while moving documents into a new court house.

A SOLDIER WEDS

Asheboro, N. C. (AP)—A soldier and his prospective bride presented themselves to an Asheboro minister for the rites, but with a Guilford county license. Since the marriage must be performed in the county of issuance, the pastor hustled the couple and necessary witnesses into his car and drove just across the Randolph-Guilford county line.

There he parked by the roadside and tied the nuptial knot.

HELLO THERE

Guyton, Okla. (AP) — C. E. Mates, a soldier from Garden City, Kas., climbed out from under his overturned car and began a frantic search of the vicinity.

Witnesses hurried up and asked what he was hunting.

Almost as soon as he had explained that his companion Louise Wistley, also of Garden City, was missing she was found.

She'd been tossed atop the porch of a nearby house, and was sitting there virtually unhurt.

of automobiles and trucks," he added. "Today it is more important is with us Palmers, when it gets too tough for others it is just right for us. Am getting along fine, everything considered."

"I can't see why some Mothers do not receive letters from their sons. Unless something has happened to them they have the same opportunity to write that I have."
"There is very little selfishness in my outfit. We are in a tough place here and more or less help each other."

"You write and tell me how cold it is back home and me down here roasting from the heat. Why, it is so hot here that when I throw out a pan of water it is boiling before it hits the ground.

"Am not letting anything get me down so don't worry about that and I am thinking of you folks back home all the time. After all you are the ones I am over here for."

"Have not received the box from the church yet but am expecting it to arrive any day now."

"Am sure glad that you have a sure enough old time Methodist minister. They are very few and we all need a lot of them. As you said, Faith in God is everything and I have all the faith in the world. It is the main thing that keeps me going down here."

"Met a boy the other day and I asked him where he was from and he said Littlestown. I said: Yes, that is in Adams county, Pa. He asked what I knew about it. I told him that I lived in Gettysburg. We had a very long talk together. His name is John H. Palmer. He lives on R. D. 2, out of Littlestown. Remember how our mail used to get mixed up? We had a good laugh over that."

DEATH of a Saboteur

By Hulbert Footner

Chapter 13

As he re-entered his apartment, Lee glanced at his watch. Not more than twenty minutes had elapsed since he left it. In about half an hour the telephone rang. It was his friend, Inspector Loasby, chief of the detective force of the New York police. Loasby said:

"Sorry to arouse you at this hour, Mr. Mappin, but Prince Lenkoran has been found shot dead in his apartment."

"Good God!" said Lee. "I was with the Prince two hours ago."

"That's what I was told. We found a woman in his apartment but she denies shooting him. The gun is missing. There was also a waiter on the premises. Would you be good enough to come over and tell us what you know?"

"Why of course!" said Lee. "Anything I can do to help. Just give me time to dress and find a taxi."

When he got back to the Tsarko Selo there was a crowd in the street. Officers stood at the two entrances to keep out all who had no business within the house. The third landing was filled with newspapermen waiting for their story. Lee was bombarded with questions.

"Nothing to say!" said Lee, waving his hands. "I don't know the situation myself."

Inside the apartment, Lenkoran's body was lying in the foyer just as he had last seen it. A police photographer was taking pictures of it. Detectives and fingerprint experts were everywhere. Jocelyn, with a stony-white face, was sitting in a straight-backed chair with her hands in her white satin lap. She was guarded by a uniformed officer. At the other end of the room sat Elias, similarly guarded.

"Oh, Mr. Mappin!" she breathed. "It's so good to see a friendly face!"

"My dear!" said Lee, patting her hand. "This is truly a terrible situation!"

"They think I did it!" she said wildly. "They accuse me! Mr. Mappin, I swear I am innocent!"

"I believe you!" said Lee soothingly. Lowering his voice, he murmured: "I will have to ask you to submit to arrest, and imprisonment for a while."

"I trust you," she whispered. Raising her voice, she went on: "They say it must have been either me or Elias."

Lee glanced at the ashy Elias, who looked actually as if he were about to die from terror.

"Maybe it was Elias," Jocelyn said, low-voiced. "Maybe it was! He was already on the scene when I got there!"

At that moment Loasby, handsome and troubled, entered the room with a sheaf of papers in his hand. "Here you are!" he cried. "Where can we go where we can talk quietly?"

"How about the bar?" said Lee. Lee went behind the bar and set them up. Loasby climbed on a stool and laid his papers on the mahogany. Lee joined him on the next stool.

"This is an ugly business, Mr. Mappin!"

OCD Lists Penna. As Critical State

Harrisburg, Dec. 22 (AP) — The State Defense Council today reported the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense has designated Pennsylvania as one of the critical states in which air raid protection forces must be kept at full strength. The council, which said the OCD defined as critical areas all states bordering on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts plus Pennsylvania and Vermont, said all forces must be maintained fully and their efficiency increased "by consistent training."

"The threat of individual air raids on our ocean frontiers and to certain principal highly industrialized inland communities still exists," the council said an OCD directive declared, "and will doubtless continue until the end of the war."

NEW ANTHEM FOR RUSSIANS

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—Russia is hailed as a "republic of the free" in a new Soviet national anthem which has replaced the famous "Internationale," a Moscow broadcast said Monday night.

The "Internationale" was abandoned by order of the Council of Peoples Commissars, the broadcast said, because it "does not reflect the basic changes that have taken place in our country as a result of the victories of the Soviet system." The old anthem begins: "Arise, ye prisoners of starvation, arise ye wretched of the earth," and concludes with "The International Soviet will free the human race."

The new song, music by Composer A. V. Alexandrov and words by Sergei Mikhaïlov and E. L. Glisten, praises the victorious growth of the Soviet Union. The Soviet Monitor here recorded the English translation as follows:

"Union indissoluble, republic of the free, Be mighty Russia, forever joined. Long live the one great Soviet Union Created by the people's will."

(Chorus)

Glorify our free motherland, The trusty support of the friendship of the peoples, The Soviet banner, the peoples' banner. Lead us from victory to victory.

(Second verse)

Through storms our sun of freedom shone, And the great Lenin lighted our path. Stalin reared us faithful to the people And inspired us for work and great deeds.

(Third Verse)

We reared our Army in battles, Swept the vile invader from our path. In battles deciding the fate of generations We will lead our motherland to glory."

BOLIVIAN ACCORD SOUGHT ON 'TIN

La Paz, Bolivia, Dec. 22 (AP)—A desire for "effective cooperation" between the United States and Bolivia and an early settlement of negotiations concerning tin and quinine was expressed today by a minister in the new government of President Maj. Gualberto Villarroel.

"I believe an effective cooperation ought to exist between the United States and Bolivia," asserted Minister of Economy Gustavo Chacon. "and that within the shortest time possible we should face the matters left pending by the laxness of the former government, including tin and quinine. In the interest of both countries these matters should not be further postponed."

The Villarroel government, which installed itself with a coup d'etat Monday, turned its attention to retributive measures for what was described as last December's "Catawbi massacre" in which 19 were killed and 35 injured when troops fired on striking tin mine workers.

The government announced today a decree providing indemnities for the victims and said measures aimed at determining culpability for the shootings would follow.

DEATH of a Saboteur

By Hulbert Footner

Chapter 12

As he re-entered his apartment, Lee glanced at his watch. Not more than twenty minutes had elapsed since he left it. In about half an hour the telephone rang. It was his friend, Inspector Loasby, chief of the detective force of the New York police. Loasby said:

"Sorry to arouse you at this hour, Mr. Mappin, but Prince Lenkoran has been found shot dead in his apartment."

"Good God!" said Lee. "I was with the Prince two hours ago."

"That's what I was told. We found a woman in his apartment but she denies shooting him. The gun is missing. There was also a waiter on the premises. Would you be good enough to come over and tell us what you know?"

"Why of course!" said Lee. "Anything I can do to help. Just give me time to dress and find a taxi."

When he got back to the Tsarkoe Selo there was a crowd in the street. Officers stood at the two entrances to keep out all who had no business within the house. The third landing was filled with newspapermen waiting for their story. Lee was bombarded with questions. "Nothing to say!" said Lee, waving his hands. "I don't know the situation myself."

Inside the apartment, Lenkoran's body was lying in the foyer just as he had last seen it. A police photographer was taking pictures of it. Detectives and fingerprint experts were everywhere. Jocelyn, with a stony-white face, was sitting in a straight-backed chair with her hands in her white satin lap. She was guarded by a uniformed officer. At the other end of the room sat Elias, similarly guarded.

"Oh, Mr. Mappin!" she breathed. "It's so good to see a friendly face!"

"My dear!" said Lee, patting her hand. "This is truly a terrible situation!"

"They think I did it!" she said wildly. "They accuse me! Mr. Mappin, I swear I am innocent!"

"I believe you!" said Lee soothingly. Lowering his voice, he murmured: "I will have to ask you to submit to arrest, and imprisonment for a while."

"I trust you," she whispered. Raising her voice, she went on: "They say it must have been either me or Elias."

Lee glanced at the ashy Elias, who looked actually as if he were about to die from terror.

"Maybe it was Elias," Jocelyn said, low-voiced. "Maybe it was! He was already on the scene when I got there!"

At that moment Loasby, handsomely and troubled, entered the room with a sheaf of papers in his hand. "Here you are!" he cried. "Where can we go where we can talk quietly?"

"How about the bar?" said Lee. Lee went behind the bar and set them up. Loasby climbed on a stool and laid his papers on the mahogany. Lee joined him on the next stool.

"This is an ugly business, Mr. Mappin!"

"Nothing whatever," said Lee. "You overrate my powers of observation. This was just the usual polite dinner with everybody on their best behavior. How would I know what was going on beneath the surface?"

"Don't you agree with me that it

"I believe you," said Lee. "How well did you know Lenkoran?"

"That's hard to say," answered Lee. "He was a friendly man, but secretive."

"What did he do?"

"If you mean what was his business, he hadn't any. According to the story, he brought a small capital to America and has greatly increased it by profitable investments. At any rate, he seemed to have plenty of money. He told me that he was engaged in raising funds for Russian Relief and sending it abroad secretly. The secrecy was necessary because he couldn't support the present Russian government without appearing to betray his old friends."

"That's what I'm afraid of," said Loasby. "International complications."

"Lenkoran told me that he was continually watched and spied upon by Russian government agents. I don't know if that's true."

Loasby ran a hand through his hair. "Good God, Mr. Mappin, if he was shot by a Russian government agent, look what a position that puts me in! We are allied with that government; we're fighting this war side by side. To arrest one of their agents would be very unpopular!"

Lee shrugged. "What about the dinner tonight?" asked the Inspector.

"There was nothing special about it," said Lee. "Lenkoran asked me to meet some of his Russian friends because I was interested in Russia. There were three Russians present: White Russians like Lenkoran, as I understood. Their names were Scharipov, Goroshov and Tashla. Scharipov I had met once before, the other two were new to me. Goroshov, I gathered, lives somewhere near New York; the others were out-of-town men. They said they traveled around collecting money for Lenkoran."

"What happened during dinner?"

"Nothing out of the way. All the men were devoting themselves to the handsome young lady. You know the kind of chatter."

"After the girl left, they all talked Russia until I was sick of the subject. I went home at ten o'clock."

"But the girl hadn't left."

"I thought she had."

"Why didn't she leave the apartment?" demanded Loasby.

"I don't know. You'll have to ask her that."

"I have asked her and I'm not satisfied with her answer. Mr. Mappin, you're the most acute observer I know. You had the opportunity to study those people throughout the whole meal. Something must have happened at the table that would give you some clue as to who shot Lenkoran."

"Nothing whatever," said Lee. "You overrate my powers of observation. This was just the usual polite dinner with everybody on their best behavior. How would I know what was going on beneath the surface?"

"Don't you agree with me that it was probably the girl?"

"I am not in possession of the evidence. I have reason for thinking it could not have been the girl."

"What is it?"

"Absence of motive. Her association with Lenkoran was of too recent a date to bring about a situation involving murder. She could have no cause as yet to feel that he had wronged her. Having just been raised to the position of the Prince's number one lady friend, every woman in that set envied her. Why should she upset the applecart?"

OCD Lists Penna. As Critical State

Harrisburg, Dec. 22 (AP) — The State Defense Council today reported the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense has designated Pennsylvania as one of the critical states in which air raid protection forces must be kept at full strength.

The council, which said the OCD defined as critical areas all states bordering on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts plus Pennsylvania and Vermont, said all forces must be maintained fully and their efficiency increased "by consistent training."

"The threat of individual air raids on our ocean frontiers and to certain principal highly industrialized inland communities still exists," the council said an OCD directive declared, "and will doubtless continue until the end of the war."

Chapter 17
PETER AND CHARLES ATTEND
A MASQUERADE

Peter and Charles, the real King of Aradoone, hugged each other with joy when the magic golden key unlocked their cell.

"Let us free the other prisoners at once!" cried Peter pushing open the door and stepping into the corridor.

"Wait, my boy," said Charles. "Let us first attend to my brother, Uttar. After that all men will be free."

He took down the tiny torch from the wall and approached the first heavy iron door. He put the golden key in the lock and slowly the key grew to fit the huge lock until Charles was able to turn it with a twist of his fingers. The great door swung open as if it were pushed by unseen hands!

Slowly the man and boy climbed the long flights of stairs. When they came to the top of the last flight they sat down to rest. Charles was panting with exhaustion for it was a long time since he had climbed a stair and he was very weak.

"I hear strange sounds beyond the door," he said, blowing out the torch. "Like bands playing."

Peter crept to the door and listened with his ear pressed against the key hole. "It is music!" he exclaimed. "Perhaps Uttar is having a ball."

That is exactly what Uttar was having. It was a Masquerade Ball. Everyone was dressed in strange costumes. Some guests were dressed up as Indians, some as animals, some as clowns. Some men wore crowns—pretending they were kings.

The music played so loudly and everyone was so busy dancing and laughing that no one noticed the big iron door to the dungeon steps which slowly opened just wide enough for two to enter.

Peter and Charles crept down the long corridors until they stood at the entrance of the Great Ball room. No one paid the slightest attention to them.

"Dance!" whispered Charles to Peter. "They believe we are masqueraders!" And without another word, he reached out and took the arm of a black haired woman who was dressed up like a butterfly. The two of them danced away, circling the ball room.

A young girl wearing the costume of a gypsy took Peter's arm. "What are you supposed to be?" she asked.

Peter looked down at his poor worn clothes. "Why," he replied quickly, "I—I am dressed as a beggar."

The girl threw back her head and laughed merrily. "You look more like a rag man!" she exclaimed. "Come—dance with me."

Peter had no idea how to dance but he stumbled around rather well, holding the girl in his arms in the proper way for dancing. Then he said, "Which is King Uttar?"

"Haven't you seen him?" asked the girl. "He has the most amusing costume! He is dressed like a bunny rabbit." She leaned close to Peter's ear and whispered, "He should be dressed like a wolf for that is what he is really. Whatever shall we do without Christmas?" Then she pointed over Peter's shoulder. "Look! There goes the King now!"

Peter turned in time to see a man dressed in the costume of a soft brown rabbit who was just leaving the ball room. "What a strange costume for the King to wear!" thought Peter "But what a perfect masquerade it is!"

And truly it was an excellent costume. Uttar had had it made by the best tailors in Aradoone. The tailors had skinned a hundred and three rabbits to make one rabbit skin large enough to fit the King.

Just at that moment Peter saw Charles following Uttar from the room.

"Excuse me," said Peter to the girl and he turned away and strode after the two kings.

He had no idea what was going to happen but as he left the room his fingers went to his pocket and closed around the tiny steel sword which Gregory had given him.

"Perhaps," he thought, "like the ivory horse and the golden key, it is a sword of magic and will serve me well."

Maid Will Face
Murder Charge

Mercer, Pa., Dec. 22 (AP)—District Attorney Edwin C. Moon said today Janice Graham, 20-year-old blonde housemaid, will be charged with murder in the triple slaying at the Everett Wilson dairy farm, "if evidence from the reopened investigation of the case warrants."

The prosecutor said his action depended largely upon evidence he obtains from Wilson, whom he had arrested yesterday in Kerrville, Tex., as "an absconded witness" from the last grand jury investigation.

Wilson told officials in Texas he would waive extradition and return immediately. Moon said he is certain the dairyman was fishing with friends in Canada on Oct. 7, when Mrs. Helen Wilson, 46, his wife, Mrs. Catherine Wilson, 76, his mother, and Robert McKay, 70, a farmhand, all were killed.

Leaves Hospital
To Meet Santa

Philadelphia, Dec. 22 (AP)—Last year Santa came to nine-year-old Ronald Cohen at his home at 135 Chestnut street, Sunbury, and the lad didn't want to take any chances this year.

So in only his pajamas, slippers and bathrobe he slipped out of the children's heart hospital last night and started for home.

Two miles from the hospital a motorist saw the boy walking east—not toward Sunbury—picked him up and, noticing the costume, turned him over to police.

Hospital nurses soon had him back in bed, assuring him that Santa finds good boys—even homesick ones—wherever they are.

3. Keep your tires properly inflated.
4. Have them inspected regularly.
